

|                            |                                                                                                                                                                                 |
|----------------------------|---------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|
| Item type                  |                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Bibliography               | Robert, N.; Blanc, S.; Waqainabete, L.M.; Demaret, L.; Abdelkader, G.; Sukal, A.C.; Campbell, B. (2025) Establishing a s                                                        |
| Abstract / Content summary | Taro ( Colocasia esculenta (L.) Schott), which is a vegetatively propagated root crop and a major staple in Pacific Island co                                            |
| File                       |                                                                                                |
| File info                  | 12.12 MB, PDF                                                                                                                                                                   |
| External web link          | https://lrd.spc.int/resources/journal-of-agriculture-and-forestry-in-the-pacific |
| Library Locations          |                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| Associated conference      |                                                                                                                                                                                 |
| identifier                 |                                                                                                                                                                                 |